

SYNNEX charity presents $1M to children's groups

AMANDA COYNE
STAFF REPORTER

SYNNEX Share the Magic, a charity initiative of technology distributor SYNNEX Corporation, announced Friday it would distribute nearly $1 million to four Upstate children's charities. The money will be given to A Child's Haven, Clement's Kindness, Make-a-Wish South Carolina and Pendleton Place for Children and Families.

The initiative was founded in 2011 by Peter Larocque, SYNNEX's president of North American Technology Solutions, and has raised $5 million since, distributing more than $3 million to the four charities above. The charities benefit children who may be seriously ill, abused or experiencing developmental delays. The money given by SYNNEX Share the Magic will help create new facilities, grant "wishes" and provide services to children and families.

PHOTOS BY CINDY HOSEA/STAFF

Agencies received funds totaling nearly $1 million during the presentation of checks.

Pendleton Place for Children and Families receives a check, presented by Peter Larocque, president of North America Technology Solutions for SYNNEX Corp., from the 2015 SYNNEX Share the Magic fundraising initiative.